I am going to the Australian Motorcycle Grand Prix 2025. In this social story the event will be called the 'MotoGP'™.

MotoGP™ is a sport where 22 of the world's best motorcycle riders race for points across many races to become the World Champion.

When we say circuit, we mean where the whole event takes place.
When we say track, we mean where the bikes race around.

The Australian race happens on a track at Phillip Island. When I get there, I might see some animals I don't usually see.

It's important to look after the animals by giving them space and not touching them.

When I get to the Phillip Island circuit, I will go through a gate where a staff member will scan my ticket.

It might be really busy - especially at the start of the day - so I can stay close to my friends or family to help me feel safe.

After I go through the gates, there will be lots of people.
I might hear loud music, people talking, cheering and motorbikes racing.

I will see people taking photos, drinking and eating different foods, and enjoying the races.

At the Phillip Island circuit, I will see motorbikes racing around the track. They can be very loud, so I might like to wear ear protection like headphones or earplugs if I need them.

I might use the shuttle buses to get around the circuit, as it can take a long time to move between different parts of the venue.

If I get separated from the people I am with, or if I need help, there will be lots of people I can ask.

I can ask the staff in bright red jackets, paramedics, police, security or other workers.

There will be lots of things to do and see away from the track, too. There could be loud planes in the sky, music playing, busy stalls at the Expo and more.

If I need a break, I can ask the staff to direct me to the sensory room or somewhere a bit quieter. Staff will be available to help if I need.

There may be lots of traffic on the way home, because lots of people will be leaving at the same time.
